NATIONAL TO STOP TOURS.

Old League Likely to Prohibit Men From Taking Post-Season Trips.

NEW YORK, October 22.—When the National League meets in December one of the questions to be considered will be that of forbidding ball players to take part in any games after the league season closes. In view of the attitude of many of the club owners, it is likely that affirmative action will be taken on the proposal. The civil attendant on barnstorming trips has been realized, and each club even now has the power to stop its players participating in any games after the close of the season, there being a clause in the contract which says that they are obliged to obtain permission for such play.

The clubs could forbid the men playing, but such a course has never been taken. The situation, however, has been going from bad to worse. The permission for the league men to play the game in the late fall has given rise to the custom of billing the team by the club name, even though there may be but one player of that club on the team. In and about this city it has even gone so far that teams have taken the name of one of the New York clubs and had amateur or semi-professional players assuming the names of members on the Giants or Yankees teams. The clubs have hesitated to take drastic action against any of their men, it being the impression that after season money, there has been so much a use of the privilege, however, that the matter will come before the National League and a definite ban probably will be placed against the custom.

In Worcester they pay more attention to the doings of one Jack Barry than they did during the New England League season to the doings of one Mr. Burdett's ball club. Jack Barry, his home in Worcester and the people of that place are very much pleased with themselves because they have a real major leaguer in their midst. During the Boston season Barry's indisposition while Barry was staying at his home some of the Worcester papers were as careful to publish his latest physical condition as they might have been that of some statesman suffering from a serious trouble.

BIG ELEVENS FACE DIFFICULT BATTLES

Harvard May Meet Defeat for First Time in Three Years.

TIGERS AND DARTMOUTH TO PLAY AT PRINCETON

Contest Should Be One of Most Brilliant of the Season.

Other Gossip.

BY H. C. BYRD.

The most important foot ball games of the year are to be played tomorrow. In fact, the first real big contests of 1915 are to take place. Not only do several of the secondary institutions meet in what promise to be brilliant struggles, but several of the elevens representing the great universities will be opposed.

Of chief general interest throughout the country is, perhaps, the contest between Princeton and Dartmouth. The "big green" eleven is strong, almost as much so as last season, and it will go to Princeton with the idea of avenging, if possible, the defeat of 1914, when it was generally conceded to be better than the Tigers. Dartmouth, too, has this game as the main basis for its hopes of a rating with Harvard and Yale, and in the general championship standing at the end of the season.

Princeton must face the test at a disadvantage, having been unable to work up the game to a point where it would show its greatest power. The Tigers must not reach the height of their development until the middle of November, and yet Dartmouth probably has pointed its team for this one contest. There is no game on the schedule of the "big green" aggregation.

tion that it would rather win than that tomorrow.

For the first time in three years Harvard may meet defeat. Cornell goes to Cambridge and the Ithacans have the most powerful eleven in many years. It is heavy, fast and capable in every respect. A report sent out by a man in authority at Cornell states that the team is one of the most powerful that has ever represented the institution. From tackle to tackle the forwards average more than 190 pounds; the backfield also is heavy and the eleven as a whole averages 175 pounds. Cornell's record against the secondary teams this year has been much better than usual. The Ithacans have defeated Gettysburg 14 to 0, Oberlin 24 to 7, Williams 46 to 6 and Bucknell 41 to 0.

Cornell students, coaches and the squad seem to feel that they have a splendid chance to win, notwithstanding Harvard's brilliant record. The Crimson has not lost a game in three years and Cornellians know as well as anybody what honor will belong to the eleven which first breaks that record. Harvard has another good kicker in Mahan, as was shown by the three goals by which Harvard defeated Virginia. The fact that Harvard could not cross Virginia's goal is encouraging to the Ithacans, because the latter figure their eleven just as strong defensively as that which represents the Charlottesville university. Cornell, too, has a great punter in Barrett, just as Virginia has in Thurman, and it can play just such a game as did Virginia. Harvard may have been keeping something in the way of offensive measures under cover, but if not it will not roll out points on Cornell as it did a year ago. Anyway, the contest should be brilliantly played, with Cornell fighting about on even terms, with a chance to obtain a victory.

The University of Pittsburgh ought to give the University of Pennsylvania all the latter is looking for—and more. Pittsburgh, on what the two elevens have shown, should win by a big margin. The Washington team was beaten in the season with only a fair out look, but seems to have developed rapidly. It is questionable, though, if it will be able to repeat its victory over the New Haven eleven.

According to reports, the Georgetown team will face a crippled eleven when it goes against the Army, but the probabilities are that the Soldiers will have the liveliest bunch of crimpies in football in a long while. The Army will work desperately to prevent a loss to Georgetown, which is just what it will do, because it is generally conceded that the Hilltoppers have an even chance to win.

If Georgetown defeats the Army it will have the unique distinction of having won from the Army and Navy in the same year. There have been teams plenty strong enough to accomplish the feat, but it is very, very seldom that a team plays the Army and Navy in the same season. Georgetown is showing no hesitancy in saying that it believes it will win, while reports from West Point indicate that the coaches do not feel especially optimistic over the outlook.

Catholic University, Gallaudet and the Maryland Aggies play at home. The Brooklanders are to meet Villanova, a team which has been winning consistently from elevens in Pennsylvania; the Kendall Greeners have scheduled a contest with the Carlisle Indians' Reserves, and a fine battle is being looked for; the Farmers are to meet the Pennsylvania Military College, an eleven coached by Bill Hollenbach, former University of Pennsylvania player and Penn State coach. All three games should be hard fought and evenly played. Especially is that true of the contest in which Villanova meets Catholic University. The Brooklanders, while not in very good shape, are pretty sure to put up a great fight, and it is well known that Villanova has a much better eleven than usual. Its string of victories so far indicates that with exceptional accuracy.

Technical and Business meet this afternoon on Georgetown Field in what should be the best played high school game in years. The Manual Trainers are not in as good shape physically as they might be, while Business is in splendid condition. The winner undoubtedly will be favored for the high school title.

FERGUSON TOPS SHOOTERS.
Beats 25 Out of 25 Targets at Indian Head Shoot.

Special Correspondence of The Star.
INDIAN HEAD, Md., October 22.—Walter Ferguson led in the weekly shoot of the Indian Head Gun Club here yesterday. Ferguson broke 25 out of the 25 targets at which he shot. Bob Posey was second, with 21 out of 25. The scores:

Walter Ferguson	25
Bob Posey	21
Luther Wayland	18
Ch. Posey	18
William Vogelstein	18
Ed. Patton	17
Compton Brooks	14
D. Thomas	13
J. Horan	12
F. Misenholder	12
M. Doonan	10

Pitcher Bill Piercy of Vernon, drafted by the New York Yankees, made a great reputation this season for aiming at the plate and missing it. In one game he walked nine men; in another eight. Jack Killiey holds the coast record, however. Twice this season he has walked nine men in nine innings.

The Eastern team got a clean sweep over the Norris-Peters combination in the Capital City circuit. B. Poston led the victors with games of 98, 125 and 113, for a set of 336. Murtagh of the Cardinals in the Knights of Columbus circuit rolled for more than 100 pins in each of his contests.
